The striking

Unity is expressed through the positive relations of different races, as well as teacher-student relationships. Mr. Larry Bernstorff holds a discussion with Peanut Palmer, John Mayes and Rhonda Lewis, jrs.

Two songs may combine to form a melody, just as two people combine to form a couple.

Webster defines harmony in music as "the art of combining tones into a chord and connecting and relating those chords according to certain rules." Using this as an analogy of sorts, each and every expressed opinion or interest is a tone in the chords which made up the songs emitting from Derby Senior High in 1977.

A song can be a simple collection of tones forming a melody, or it can be made to sound fuller by blending or harmonizing each tone with three or four others to form chords on top of a melody. A person can also lead his life by doing only what is expected of him or herself and no more. On the other hand, he can enrich his life with additional activities stemming from his basic interests, thus broadening his field of knowledge.

Students at DSH during the school year of 76-77 were given an even greater opportunity to make their high school songs even more complete than preceding years. Participation in clubs was encouraged through a morning activity period which enabled working students and others with after school commitments, to become involved in the harmony. More courses were offered than the preceding year, and two new clubs were added to make it possible for each and every song to grow in complexity and be heard.

Probably the best illustration of harmony at work would have to be the athletic teams of 76-77. Apprehensive community members, as well as school members, looked to the football and basketball teams with little hope until the seasons were in full swing. Even the athletes showed a lack of confidence in the beginning; but senior Greg Pickens, football tri-captain, confessed that the team members "had developed a bond of closeness between them that brought them together." Such a bond was seen on the field and court as each team battled its way to the state level.

Also, on the national level, the side which worked together won together, as the election of '76 brought about a victory for the Democratic party. Working as a harmonious unit, Democrats all over the nation made the public aware of a man called Jimmy Carter while the opposing party tore itself down the middle between Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan, thus making their song off key. Watergate didn't help the Republican cause either, because it magnified the lack of unity within the party structure.

Parking space was an increasing problem as the year progressed. Unpaved area south of the school became a parking lot for anyone who arrived too late to park in a paved lot.

harmony of life

Yet harmony is not everyone singing the same melody. It took several million melodies for the Republican party, simply because not all people like the same type of music. Because of people's likes and dislikes, not all people can harmonize their song with others. DSH continued and will continue to expand its curriculum.

The school year of 76-77 followed two active years. The school year of 74-75 was an active year of adjustment and reorganization with a new principal, Jack L. Larson. The 75-76 year was full of building and rebuilding with the addition of the commons building and a change in location for the library and smoking area. However, these two active years served as stepping stones for the third year.

Seventy-seven was a year of total development where attention was focused on the student's individual needs and wants, ranging from "I Care" groups to an Inner Liaison Council. These two groups were ideal examples of outlets for harmony among parents, teachers, administrators and students alike.

A song can become monotonous if it has no variation. No matter how broad the curriculum, extra or otherwise, a school is a school and cannot be one's entire life; for, a high school cannot provide all tones in the scale. Consequently, the students of Derby frequented a wide variety of places in their free time. Many found the tones and variety they needed in Derby, while others frequently visited Wichita.

Disco music swept the nation, and with the music came disco dances. "Line dancing" was probably the most common form seen, as an entire dance floor would step in unison to the "Bus Stop," or "The Hustle." Thus, the youth of '77 could best be described as people of unity. Likewise places with musical attraction ranked highest on the list of out-of-school activities for the year. Many of the 18-year-olds attended the many discos that the 76-77 year brought. "Pogoes" and "Ball and Jack" were favorites in the Wichita area. Indeed, the disco rage swept the under-18 group, and DSH clubs began hiring professional disc jockeys for their own taste of disco-mania instead of live bands. The Winter Sports Homecoming Dance was the first to pick up on the disco idea.

Still others chose their musical entertainment elsewhere. Many persons chose live performers such as Headstone and Lander Ballard at "The Ca-

The concert business was on an increase as Wichita hosted such rock groups as Kiss, The Eagles, and Peter Frampton. As the foundation for the Kansas Coliseum was poured, '77 concert fans saw hope for more big-name-group concerts begin to become a reality

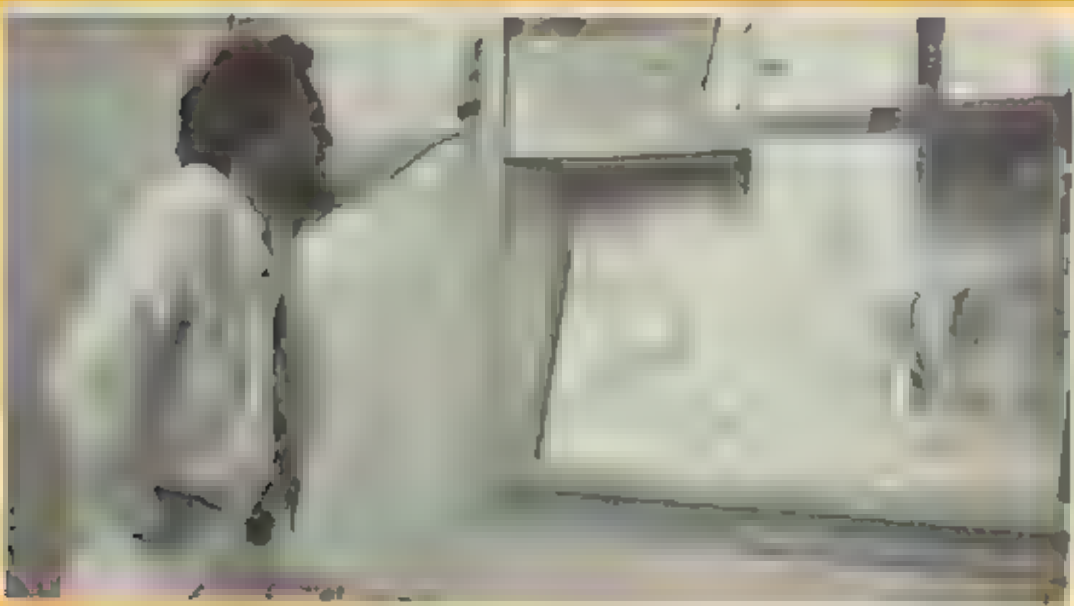

The dawning of an age of "harmony and understanding" was mentioned in the song, "Aquarius" (1969). The Age of Aquarius was truly in its prime during the year of '77.

No album could come about without the financial backing of the producers. There would be no harmony without the arrangers to stylize the music for the album's individual sound. Any group, musical or otherwise, cannot function without a director to keep them on key, on beat, and working as a unit.

Attendance policy revised

The attendance policy was revised for the second year in a row by the Board of Education. The new policy left attendance procedures up to each individual department, allowing more flexibility to meet their varying needs.

Four coordinators continued for the second year to develop the curriculum in grades seven through twelve. The four areas of study were social sciences and core, mathematics, science, and language arts. The curriculum coordinators were selected by the Board of Education. The program was begun on an experimental basis last year and proved successful again in the 1976-77 school year.

Many groups formed

Mr. Jack Larson has been principal of Curtis Senior High for three years. It is the feeling of Mr. Larson that OSH's character and that every one should be brought together.

With this idea in mind he formed various groups that were to help the community to be better. Each of these groups discussed improvements and changes in the school.

The Advisory Board was established by Mr. Larson during his first year at OSH. The Board recommended to the Student Council desired changes of the students.

Advisory groups were formed to study the cafeteria, parking lots and smoking.

In November, an Inter-Larson Council was formed. This council consisted of staff members, parents and students.

Excellent communication was achieved between the principal and student body during special orientative assemblies.

In January, Mr. Edward Williams, activities director, acquired a larger room. The room was re-laid to allow for more privacy and extra space.

Mr. Williams, who is in his second year as activities director, said, "I think my new officers are super and they did a real good job. Now I can visit with two people at one time instead of only one."

"Mr. Williams is the activities director."

An "I Care" program was formed under the guidance of the DSH counselors. The program helped to orientate sophomore girls to Derby Senior High. Junior and senior girls volunteered as leaders of the "I Care" meetings.

Mrs. Diana Nelson and Mrs. Erlene Farr worked together until 4:30 every day as office secretaries.

Mrs. Linda Nichols assisted the counselors, as well as students.

Miss Mary Poteete, library secretary, kept things organized in the Media Center.

Mrs. Peggy Unkel tackled the job of bookkeeping, while Mrs. Lola Daniels aided anyone who needed medical attention.

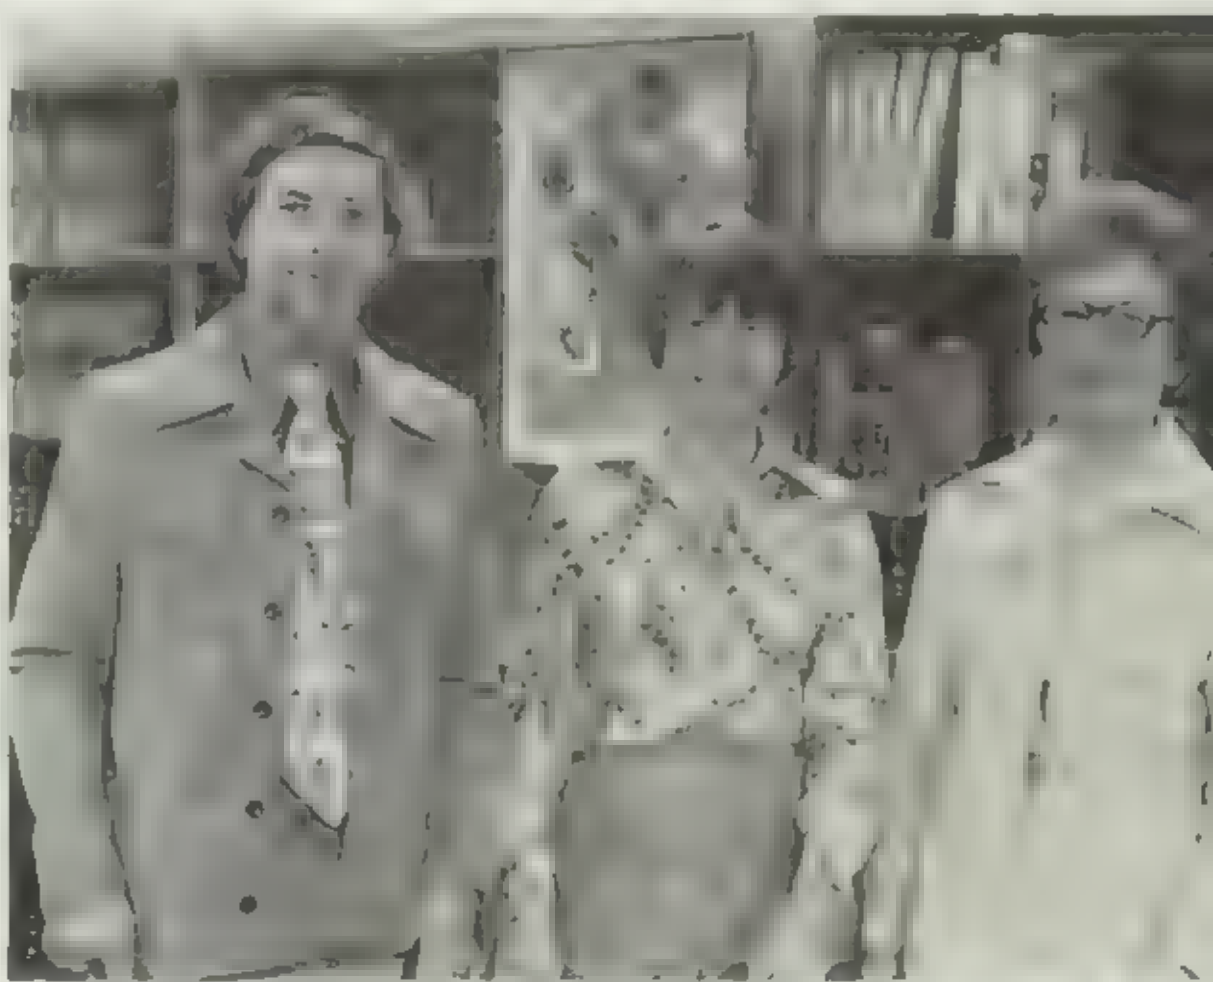

Mrs. Everhart was an aid for each of the five study halls.

In her second year at DSH, Mrs. Mary Ann Baker, dietician, continued work on improving cafeteria meals. After taking a survey, she planned meals that better appealed to the staff and student body.

All food was prepared by the twelve cooks.

Meanwhile, the work of the custodians was dependable regardless of the time of day. Besides the assistance given during the school day hours, they were always available to help out during evening activities. In addition, two men worked a night shift to further maintenance of the school.

Course gains a new teacher

Driver's Education was not operated under the school system. The state operated the program. The instructors received their instructions from the state and proceeded from there.

According to Mr. Raymond Brown, department chairman, the course was very popular among the students.

This was the fourth year the students had the driving range. They were required to have a certain amount of hours on the range, on the road and in the classroom.

The courses were taught under the direction of Mr. Raymond Brown, Mr. Roger Blackwell, and Mr. Donel Taylor.

New computer does it all

The Business Department purchased a new Metric Conversion Calculator. In addition to adding, subtracting, multiplying, dividing and measuring, the calculator converted the English system of measurement to the metric system. It even doubled as a clock.

The Business Department had new attendance procedures, also. After the third absence a half hour of time after school was required to make up for the absence. Each tardy resulted in a fifteen minute detention.

The business classes were all electives. The students took the classes that they wished to take. "I like to be in a class that I choose to take. Then if I don't like it the only person I can blame is myself," stated Karen Neff, sr.

Change seemed to be the key word as the Home Economics Department gained a new room in A-Hall for sewing.

Lack of space and crowded storage areas promoted the move from H-Hall. The department was proud of the new, modern, well-equipped and brightly-decorated room.

Change was not only seen in the addition of a new room, but also in the arrival of Mrs. Katherine Reynolds, who taught Foods I and II, and Single Adult Living.

Trends in Fashion, Child Care, and Co-ed Family Living

Mrs. Maurine Benson, department head, instructed Clothing I and II, Household Equipment, Innovative Arts, Today's Consumer, Vocational Home Economics I and Housing and Home Furnishings.

The donation of a 1976 Toyota Corolla from Eddie's Toyota of Wichita helped spark interest in Mr. Kirke Veeder's Power and Energy I and II classes. Almost every class was filled to capacity.

The Building Trades Introduction and Vocational Building Trades classes, under the instruction of Mr. Ken Coover, new to the Industrial Arts Department, built a six room house. Other than just building the house, the students were responsible for putting in the plumbing and electrical work. The class then auctioned off the house at the end of the year.

Teachers strive for student individuality

Harmony was expressed in both the Music and Art Departments as they worked in unison with the school. For example, the Art Department worked with the Drama Department to help with its productions, with the Pep Club to help with the spirit-building aspects of the school, and with the yearbook staff for the artwork in this book, in addition to many other projects.

The artists also started a new club, the Art Association. A few artists went on to compete in the art contests at Independence and Pittsburg. Mr. Richard Dolloff said that the experiences obtained from these contests were priceless.

The instrumental music students performed at many concerts and helped with the Drama productions. The band provided entertainment at Derby's home football and basketball games and the homecoming festivities of Southwestern College. In addition, the band traveled to WSU where they received a "I" rating.

The vocal music students also performed various concerts for cultural appreciation. The Philharmonic Choir went to district festival where several choir members placed in the district choir. They performed at the Holiday Inn Plaza, on the "Joyce Livingston Show," and competed in state competition along with all the music students at the Wichita Southeast High School in the spring.

The Kansas 61st AFJROTC was for the second year in a row selected as an Honor Unit. This put them in the top 5% of the country again. All the cadets worked hard on making Honor Unit for a third year. Very few units have ever made it a third time.

Military scholarships were available for those who qualified for them. For those who went into the military service there were extra pay grades.

Many activities were planned for the cadets in which they gained both aerospace knowledge and leadership experience.

The choral group, drill team and rocket club were all participated in by the cadets. Tours of McConnell A.F.B. and of missile sites were arranged for the interested cadets.

The Junior-Senior Prom was held May 7 at Hidden Lakes Country Club. The ballroom was decorated in the senior class colors of all shades of blue. Fantasy provided the music for the evening.

John Sherman and Nancy Mathis, both seniors, were crowned King and Queen of the Prom. They led all dancers to the music of Seals and Crofts' "We May Never Pass This Way Again," the senior class song.

Mr. Roy Meyer, professional photographer, was available to take pictures of each couple.

SEVEN

Inexperience dominates harriers

Lack of experience seemed to be the dominant factor over cross-country, with only one returning from last year's team

Although the runners on the team lacked experience, they made progress. Each person during the course of the season lowered his time in meets.

Ron Jones, sr., also team captain, was the top placer on the team.

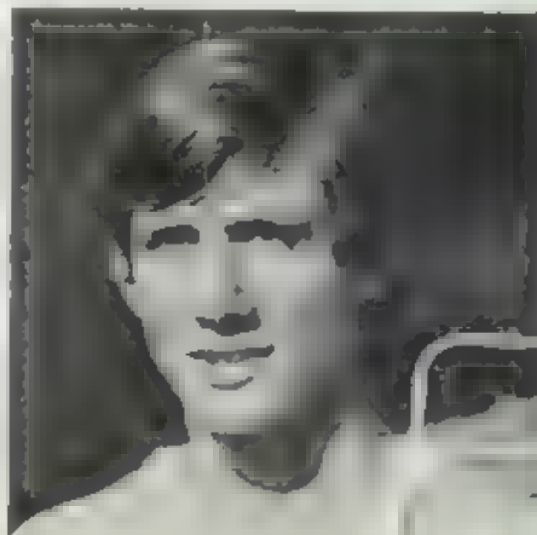

The season was capped off by the team taking seventh place at the Regional meet.

Netters strive for togetherness

Rebuilding was the key to the volleyball team. Because there were only two returning lettermen, the domination of sophomores was a key factor.

Even though the final record, which was 6-13, didn't look promising, it really didn't tell all. The fact was that the girls showed great respect for each other's abilities and worked together as a team.

Varsity team places second in AVL

The 1976 varsity football team finished the season having an 8-3 overall record, with five wins and two losses in Ark Valley League competition. The team placed second in the AVL, going all the way to the Regional Playoffs.

Head Coach Tom McVay stated, "The defense was the strongest point throughout the season. I was pleased with the improvement shown after each game. Our young men displayed great character and attitude throughout the year."

The coaching staff voted on the Most Valuable Players in four different categories. Senior Greg Pickens was voted MVP as offensive back, and Brian Fletcher, sr., was MVP as offensive lineman. Vic Hodge and Todd Poulos, srs., were chosen as the Most Valuable Defensive Linemen.

Todd was chosen on the All AVL League team and All State team for 1976. Greg was selected for the second team All AVL and All State Honorable Mention. Both played for the West Squad in the East-West Shrine Football Game in June. Coach McVay was selected as the Head Coach for the West team.

Panthers show pride in winning the regional plaque. The award came after a victory over Liberal.

Competitions prove spirit

Homecoming Week, October 11-16, proved to be very hectic because of all the activities involved. The junior class showed that they had the most spirit by winning the two-day, StuCo-sponsored, Spirit Hall Contest with 51 points, followed by the sophomores and seniors with 38 and 30 points respectively.

In retaliation, the class of '77 won the float competition for the second year in a row, with the juniors placing second, followed by the sophomores.

During the Homecoming game the Panthers came out on top against Hutchinson, 21-15, with halftime highlighted by Connie Snodgrass being crowned the 1976 Homecoming Queen.

Saturday night the group Kik provided the entertainment for the Homecoming dance, sponsored by Panther Pack, with the theme "Colour My World."

Kim Kopycinski was crowned the 1977 Winter Sports Homecoming Queen. The coronation took place during the halftime of the Derby vs. Campus basketball game. Kim was presented with a basketball signed by members of the basketball team and a paddle signed by the wrestling team members.

Cagers have learning season

Both girls basketball teams had their ups and downs during the course of the season. This was basically a learning year for the girl roundballers.

The domination of sophomores on both teams seemed to be a major factor. The girls had to learn a new way of playing basketball other than that to which they had previously been accustomed.

The teams gained momentum in the middle of the season, with the turning point for the varsity team being the Newton Invitational.

"The team displayed a well-executed defense and proved they could play good team ball at the end of the season," commented Coach Alana Pharis.

Mr. Panther crowned at pep assembly

Derby Senior High had its annual Mr. Panther coronation on January 21 at an all-school pep assembly organized by the Panther Pack.

The Mr. Panther contest was originally designed to give credit to outstanding male athletes who had received little recognition during the year. However, in the past couple of years the title has been expanded.

In order to be a Mr. Panther candidate the male student had to be a senior, and he must have attained a 3.0 grade average throughout his high school career.

This year's Mr. Panther ceremony honored Mike Templin. Mike received a special trophy and crown.

Tumblers show talent

For the first time freshmen joined the Senior High gymnastics team. The team was made up mostly of juniors and sophomores. Connie Snodgrass and Lois Margheim were the only two returning seniors.

The team ended the season with a fourth place at the regional meet at Newton. Cindy Saindon, soph., placed fourth on the beam. Robbin Reed, jr., placed second and Connie Snodgrass placed fifth in the floor exercises.

Coach Tom McVay had a 19 man and one woman team. The season consisted of eight varsity meets. The golfers placed sixth out of eight teams in the AVL.

Team moves forward with experience as main goal

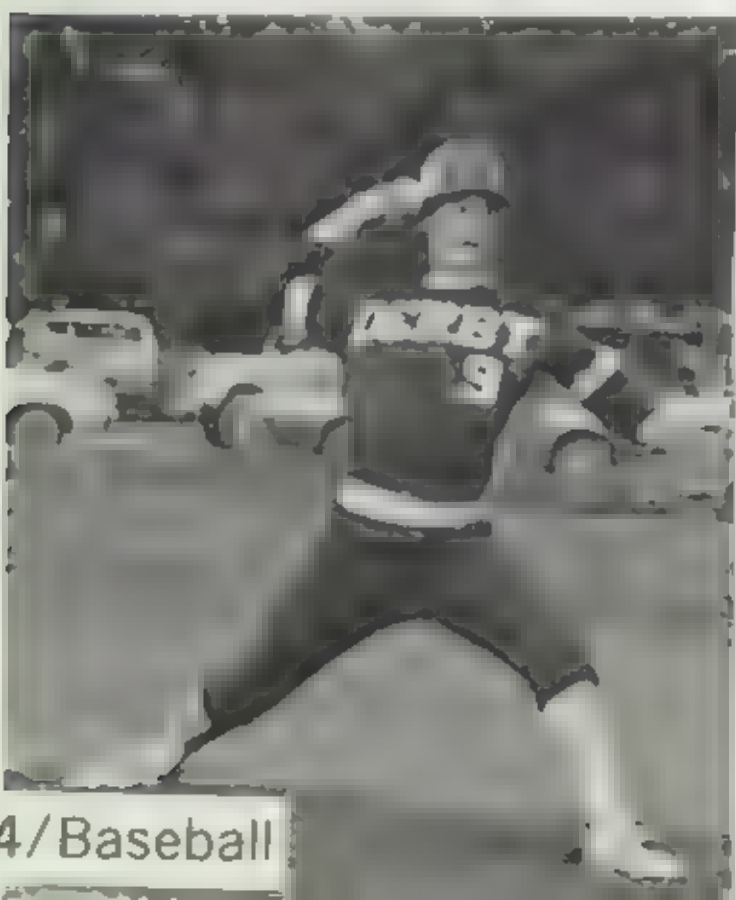

The varsity baseball team took on a new coach at the beginning of the season. Coach Rod Spatz, formerly assistant coach, became the head coach for the team.

Eight players were veterans from the year before with only four of these being seniors. A basically young and "green" team remained with experience as their top goal for the year

The junior varsity team also received a new coach. Coach John Kennedy replaced Coach Spatz. The team had a record of 5-7 and finished the season by winning the Derby Junior Varsity Tournament.

Seniors dominate

Under the direction of second year coach Rod Stewart, the team was composed of only seniors.

The team took fourth place at the Ark Valley League Meet and also added some tournament victories. The team won the Campus Invitational and placed fourth at the Wichita East Invitational.

Dan McKee and Kevin Lehr were the top point people on the team, as they were able to place in every meet. These two seniors played in the No. 1 doubles position.

The Panther netmen finished their season by having three of them place at the state tournament. Jeff Williams took third in the No. 1 singles spot, while Dan and Kevin took first place in doubles.

Inexperience affects girl tracksters

The girls track team was hampered by inexperience during the season. With only five returning lettermen, the team was dominated by sophomores.

"During the course of the season, the team fared well in most meets. A lack of unity hurt, but we still came out pretty well," said Rhonda Lewis, jr.

The team finished the season by placing fifth in the Ark Valley Meet, third at the Regional Meet, and qualifying nine girls to participate in both the State Outdoor and Indoor Meets.

Delegates quest to represent the people

The Student Council, like many of the past, searched for more representation of the student body. This quest for involvement included many programs. The year started with class coverage, a new way to communicate with the students and hear what they wanted the Student Council to do. Besides the traditional suggestion box, President of StuCo, Mark Fouts, invited any student to the meeting that had a grievance about which StuCo could do something.

The Student Council had many problems to overcome in their attempts to serve the student body. For example, they contested the "open lunch" question, returned amusement machines back to the Union, and put cold water fountains in both C and H-halls.

The Council also found time to sponsor such events, as the Freedom Jam concert, the gifts given to teachers for their merits, two students to Boys and Girls State, and the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

German Club sponsors orphan

"Guten Tags" and "Was essen wir" were often heard coming from B-14 where the German Club held its meetings. A Gummy Bear sale helped to finance the sponsorship of a little girl in India.

At Christmas time the club donated some money to help a needy family. At the annual Christmas party, German Polkas were learned and German refreshments were served.

The progressing life and times of Germany were shown through various film strips. Slides taken by Mrs. Trudy Rumble, sponsor of previous trips to Germany, were also shown at several meetings.

Club members also traveled to the Wichita State University Library to watch a German film and to Century II to hear a Beethoven Symphony.

French Club cancels Mardi Gras

Lack of interest by other clubs spurred the cancellation of the annual Mardi Gras sponsored by the French Club. The club's spirit was not dampened however, as the club was kept busy with various programs of their own.

A perfume sale boosted the club's finances and allowed them to sponsor a Korean orphan.

Films and slides helped the members gain a better understanding of French culture and customs. Two or three members often got together and presented interesting facts about France or about famous French people

VICA members began working together long before the school term began when they competed in the National VICA Contest from June 21-24 in Miami.

The annual VICA Treasure Hunt became the major task to be completed by the students. Clues were posted in sponsoring business offices. The $77.77 was tracked down by Rick Waters in Derby Police Car #1. Between 70 and 80 businesses were involved in the project.

Red T-shirts with Derby printed over the VICA emblem became a new addition to the club.

A Halloween Kiddie Movie and an Employee-Employer Banquet rounded out the year.

Girls give to others

Service projects dominated the time of OEA members. Answering telephones for the Jerry Lewis Telethon, collecting for UNICEF, and rolling cancer bandages were among the many activities that kept them busy.

Selling candy and holding the "Odds 'N Ends" sale during the Christmas season aided the girls in their fund-raising efforts.

OEA attended the Fall Delegate Assembly in Emporia in October. In March, they again went to Emporia for the Spring Leadership Conference.

Sr. DECA keeps busy

Sr. DECA had a head start in getting things organized and ready to go. With money already in the treasury, they ordered notebooks to contain their marketing research projects on which they worked all year. These projects were then judged in March at state competition in Wichita.

In October DECA attended the Fall Delegate Assembly in Emporia to elect new state officers. DeAne Thomson, president, was elected Central Region Vice-president of Kansas.

A Sales and Marketing Day was held and sponsored by the Sales and Marketing Executives of Derby. The students each chose the business that interested them most. They then spent most of the morning at the places of business where the executives explained the jobs in detail.

Jr. DECA starts early, keeps moving

The Jr. DECA club, in its second year, more than doubled its membership.

The purpose of Jr. DECA was to prepare students for their Senior year of DECA activities.

The club participated with Sr. DECA in many activities. Together they attended the Fall Delegate Assembly and had two delegate votes in the elections for state officers. They also attended workshops at the Central Region Conference in Wichita.

To raise money the club sold candy and conducted bake sales.

Miss Marilyn Wendling was co-coordinator for the club. Mr. David Howey, DECA coordinator, worked with her in synchronizing the clubs' activities.

Art club gets new name

The Art Club began the year with a new name, Art Association. The club also started a new concept for raising money. Each individual artist sold his own artwork which was exhibited in the club's display case in E-Hall.

"The Art Association is a group of artists organized to aid in the advancement of the individual artist and the group. It is totally voluntary, and they are interested mainly in making, promoting, and selling art," stated Mr. Richard Dolloff, sponsor

Senior Melinda Hein, Kayette President, stated, "I was pleased with the turnout as well as the band. It seemed as if everyone had an enjoyable time."

Harmony exists among four choirs

The Vocal Music Department under the direction of Mr. Ross Hearn was composed of four vocal groups: the Philharmonic Choir, Madrigals, Chansonettes, and the Los Jovenes Del Choro choir.

The Philharmonic Choir, the largest of the choirs, had a total of eighty-one members. Numerous performances, such as the Fall Concert, the Christmas Concert, a guest appearance on the "Joyce Livingston Show" and the Music Festival, kept them busy with preparations and practices.

Selected Philharmonic singers, picked on a basis of performance and dependability, made up the Madrigal and Chansonette choirs. Eight male and eight female singers were in the Madrigals, and sixteen female singers were in the Chansonettes. Each group chose and made their own coordinating outfits and performed for various social and civic events.

The Sophomore Choir and the Mixed Chorus were combined together under a new name, The Los Jovenes Del Choro. The forty-five sophomore, junior, and senior girls performed at various concerts. Sixteen of these members formed a Women's Ensemble.

Debate Coach Ken Carter

Arguing is enjoyable learning experience

While debate has always been thought of as an activity for the very intellectual person, Mr. Kenny Carter, debate coach, expressed a different view: debate should be an enjoyable learning experience. With criminal justice and penal reform as the topic, information was little but scarce.

Research strengthened the verbal warfare of the Derby

Squad as their records revealed. Winning seven trophies didn't give the total picture as almost everyone of the varsity debaters and several members of the novice squad came home with medals and/or trophies.

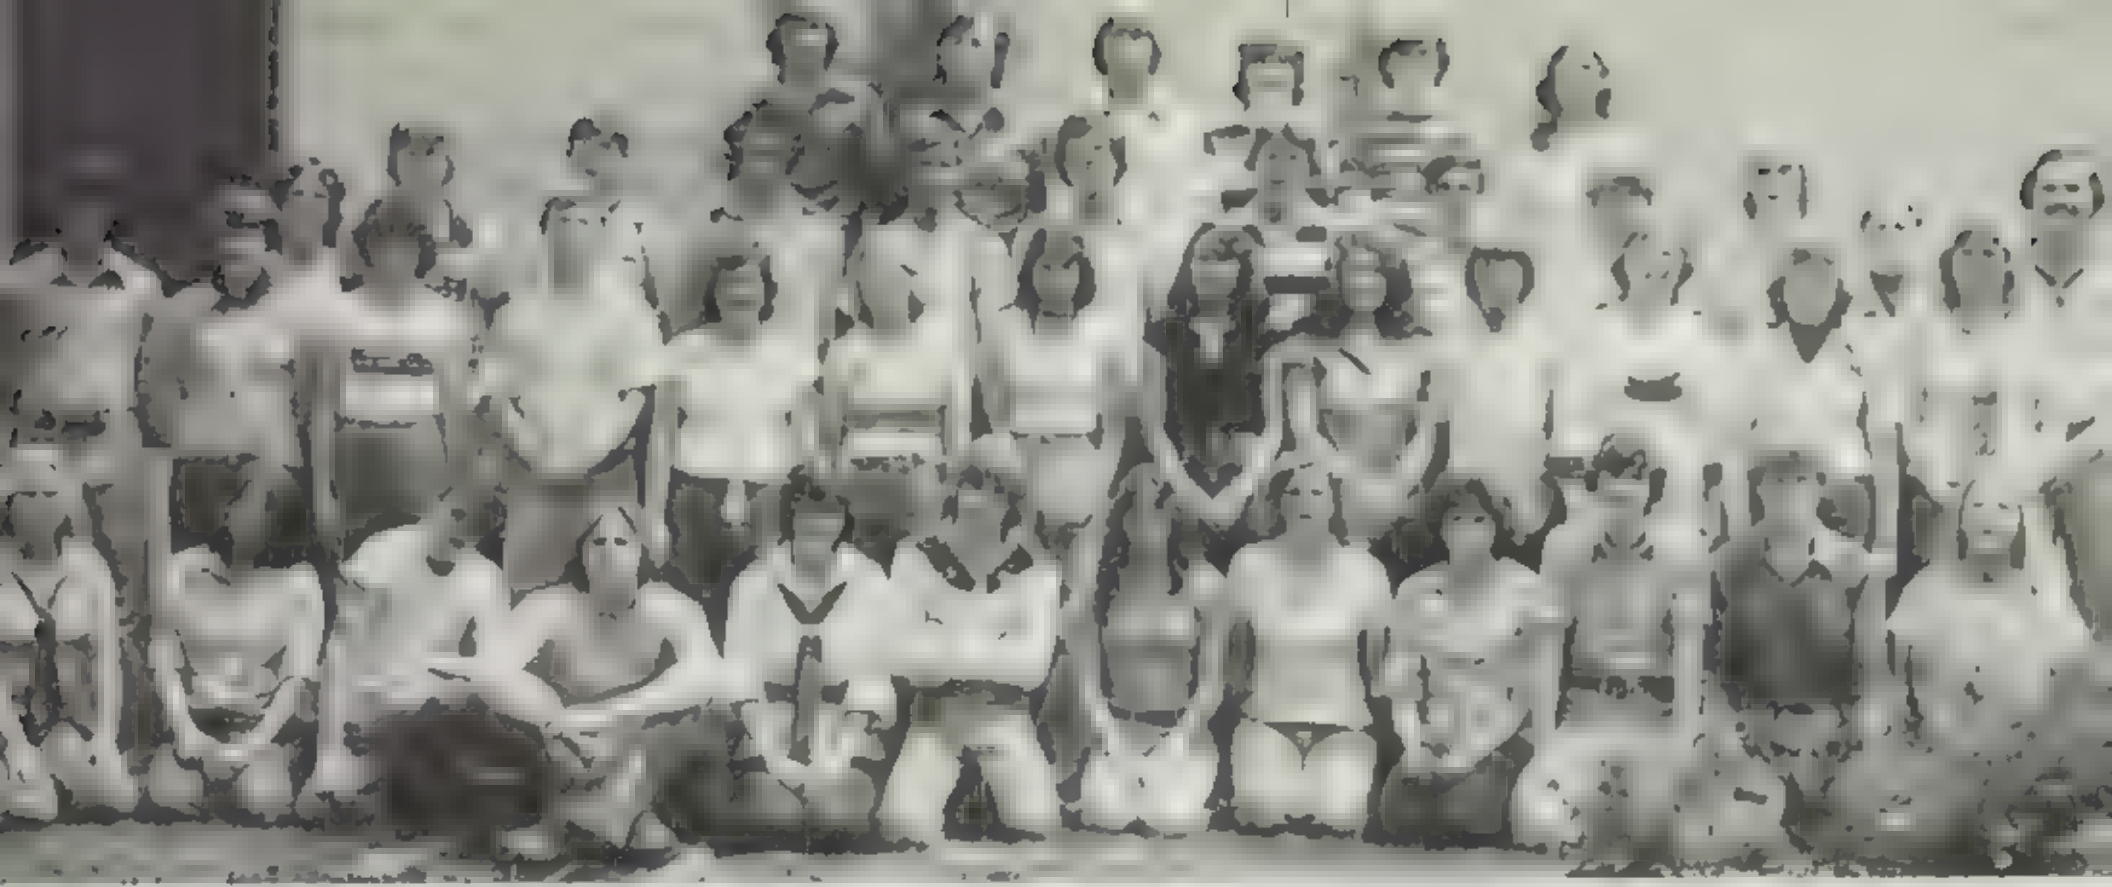

With almost all the debaters finished in competition in invitational tournaments, a team for regionals was composed

The team won their regional and a berth at the state tournament.

While the regional champions couldn't duplicate their record at state, Mr. Carter explained that the competition was tough and it was very close. "In fact anyone could have won it going into the last round."

Speech has successful second semester

National Forensics League represented one of the four national organizations offered to Derby High School students. NFL covered mostly the speech aspects of school: Debate, first semester, and Forensics and Student Congress, second semester.

"It was a really successful forensics year," commented Mr. Ken Carter, speech coach.

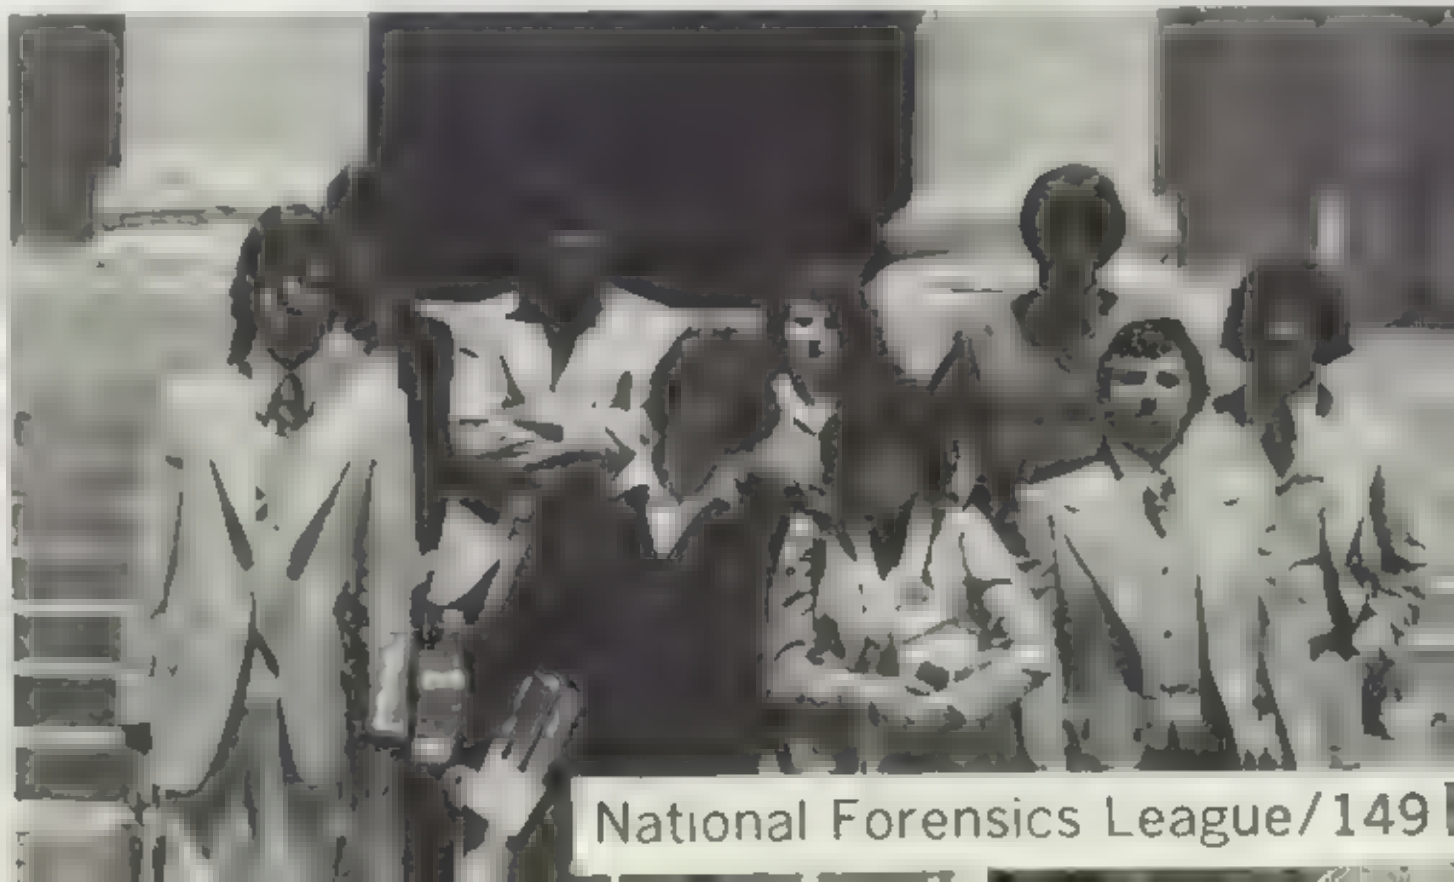

"Well-Deserved Turkey Award" recipient: Senior Craig Brown at an NFL meeting.

"Out of five weekends of competition our squad placed with 2 fourth places, 1 third place, and 2 second place finishes. We won third in the AVL, and at the Speech and Drama Festival, we came home with eight gold medals."

Student Congress was yet another event in NFL. Third year participant, senior Doug Palmer, shone as he was nominated three times and was twice elected as Outstanding Senator. The team placed first at the East High Congress, and senior John Moore was elected Speaker of the House at Winfield. In addition, at the West Kansas NFL Congress, five out of the ten Derby participants were nominated as Outstanding Speakers.

Club aids in promoting progress

Though Math Club was not always in the limelight it was responsible for much of the Math Team's success because the members sponsored trips to the math contests.

Two such trips were the Mathematics Day held in Emporia in October, and WSU's Engineering Day which was staged in February.

Social activities also played an important part in the club's make up.

"We're a social club part of the time. Most people think all we do is work hard, but we have fun too," stated Mrs. Galloway, club advisor.

New mascot adds spirit

The new panther mascot outfit, made by Production Art and worn by Terry Hill, sr., was significant in creating more spirit by helping the cheerleaders inspire the crowds.

The offices of president and vice president were made coed while secretary/treasurer was held by one person.

A strict criteria was set for the first time for the football and winter sports royalty candidates.

Derby scarves, mittens, hats, socks and decals were sold to raise money for the football and winter sports homecoming dances and the Mr. Panther coronation.

Membership cards were printed for the first time so that only Panther Pack members could ride the bus to the away games.

Money is raised for uniforms

Mrs. Ruby Brumfield, Language Arts Department, became the new sponsor of the Pantherettes.

Money was raised by bake sales, a garage sale, and a pop bottle drive in order to have different football and basketball uniforms for the first time plus T-shirts for wrestling season.

Two major performances were at the football playoff game at Liberal and the boys' Wichita South basketball tournament at Friends University.

Squad number increases

Twenty-one girls were selected to be cheerleaders. The new squad for girls athletics, cheered at all girls sports events and at a few of the boys Junior Varsity games. During basketball and wrestling seasons, the varsity cheerleaders split up, with five girls cheering for each sport.

During the summer of 1976, all twenty-one cheerleaders attended camp for a week at Oklahoma University in Norman, Oklahoma.

Their money-raising projects included a pop bottle drive, a car wash and selling mums for football homecoming.

Large turnout hears speaker

The All Sports Banquet was attended by the largest crowd ever to appear before one of its guest speakers

The festivities began with an opening prayer by Greg Pickens, sr. Following the prayer, the coaches, athletes and parents proceeded to eat through a serving line

The guest speaker was Dr Donald Cooper, the team physician at Oklahoma State University. Through his speech he stressed that all youth should become involved in sports in order to become fuller individuals

The event was ended with the presentation of a plaque to Dan McKee, sr., who was named the Male Athlete of the Year

Huddles combine for special activities

The Fellowship Of Christian Athletes was once again coed but with a new twist, the boys' and girls' respective huddles met at different times, but met together for special activities. It was felt that each member could get more out of a meeting if they were separate.

Mr. Jerry Johnson, Mrs.

Diane Taylor, and Mrs. Bunny Pack became the new sponsors of the girls while coaches Roger Blackwell, Don Taylor, and Larry Bernstorf headed the boys.

Various activities included several bonfires, Christmas caroling and speaker Shamblin Stone coming to sing Gospel songs and give his testimony at a special program. Going ice skating was another event and according to Mike Warner, sr., "It was my first and LAST try at ice skating."

The two-day state mini-conference at Rock Springs was also attended by several members.

"These meetings out on the football field sure are getting cold," think Michelle Dakes, soph., Connie Snodgrass, Sherry Duncan, srs., Robbin Reed, jr., Tracey Cole and Jacque Robbins sophs.

Believers share faith in Christ

The Youth for Christ was a gathering of believers sharing their faith in Christ

The group started a Bible study for youth-oriented problems which were studied every other week. The alternate weeks were filled with testimonies from club members and guest speakers

The club also had different fund-raising projects to pay for various activities, one of which was an Easter assembly for the student body.

"Love's Light," a regular newspaper column in the "Panther's Tale" which was written by Scotty York, was inspired by the Bible studies of the group to be shared with all students.

Chris Costin, a student nurse at St. Joseph Hospital, was one of their guest speakers. She talked to them about the schooling involved and about the nursing profession itself. Mary Ann Baker, Dietitian, also spoke to the members. She talked about the importance of good food to a person's health.

Club members participated in activities such as a trip to Halstead to tour the Health Museum and a joint meeting with the Medical Careers club of Wichita High School East.

Fund raising is primary goal

From health foods to Santa, the Drama Club had a full year of fun, rebuilding and reorganizing.

The year began with a full swing campaign for new members since there were so few returning from the previous year.

To get away from tradition, the dramatists sold health foods in addition to candies and cookies. For Christmas, the group worked in cooperation with TG&Y to provide a Santa's Workshop for the Derby youth. The club took snapshots of the kiddies on Santa's lap and sold them to parents. All of the proceeds from their money making activities went towards the redecoration of CO1

The group started a Charade Team as a means of fun and competition between other clubs at DSH and neighboring schools.

In memory of

Elizabeth Kaufman

Junior 1977

Steve Comes

Senior 1976

Though there are those who no longer are with us the memories that each one leaves behind will be forever present.

If every individual were to be the same, monotony would prevail. Each person must be his own song in order to produce harmony

The 1977 Panther Staff has tried to express the harmony of Derby Senior High, by capturing the chords consisting of the feelings, beliefs, and interests of the many songs which were a part of DSH. Most of all, we hope that we have captured the memories which are undoubtedly an important chord of each song

A special thanks goes to Joel Pierson, sr., whose artistic interpretation of Panther Harmony is on the cover, title page and division pages. Also, thanks to Mr. Roy Meyer of Meyer and Williams Studio for the many times he took pictures at school and for attending many special events to obtain photographs. A thank you goes to Mark Fouts, sr., for help with photography. Mrs. Peggy Unkel who was responsible for most yearbook sales, and Miss Sue Holsapple, yearbook advisor, whose persistence and dedication we could not have done without

Sincerely,

Nancy Mathis
Editor
